Baileo: Jurnal Sosial Humaniora is published by Pattimura University under the management of the Faculty of Social and Political Sciences. This journal is published three times a year, namely in January, May, and September. The articles published may be theoretical analyses, literature reviews, and research results. The journal focuses on research articles and book reviews centred around social sciences and humanities development. This encompasses various fields such as sociology, communication, public administration, political science, anthropology, psychology, economics, history, cultural studies, human geography, media studies, education, gender studies, philosophy, and other social humanities disciplines. The name "Baileo" is derived from the traditional house in Maluku, which was used as a gathering place for community discussions and exchanging ideas. This reflects the journal's purpose, which is to serve as a platform for exchanging ideas and advancing knowledge in social sciences and humanities. The journal aims to facilitate in-depth discussions and research across various aspects of social sciences and humanities, contributing to a better understanding of society and social issues in Indonesia and worldwide.

JURNAL SOSIAL HUMANIORA

The September 2025 edition of Baileo: Jurnal Sosial Humaniora presents a diverse range of interdisciplinary studies highlighting social, cultural, economic, legal, political, and educational dynamics within local, national, and global contexts. This volume brings together 16 scholarly articles contributed by 44 authors from four different countries: Indonesia, the Philippines, Liberia, and Guinea.

The articles in this edition represent the broad scope of contemporary social humanities research. Among them are explorations of women's roles in local social and economic transformation, flexible pedagogy through digital media, notarial legal accountability, government communication strategies for tourism development, and constitutional debates on the minimum age requirement for presidential and vice-presidential candidates.

Issues of human resource development, food security, community-based tourism rooted in local wisdom, and the dynamics of animal protein consumption are discussed as reflections on society's socio-economic challenges. Furthermore, international experiences enrich the perspectives of this edition, such as studies on the challenges of multigrade teaching in rural areas of the Philippines and women's economic participation in Liberia.

With its wide coverage of topics and diverse analytical approaches, this edition underscores the commitment of Baileo: Jurnal Sosial Humaniora to serve as an academic space that bridges local and global discourses while strengthening cross-disciplinary and cross-national research collaboration.

Baileo: Jurnal Sosial Humaniora has been indexed by 20 more indexing institutions.
